BE THE FIRST TO KNOW

Last week's tragic events at Northern Illinois University underline the importance of an effective emergency notification system. The Office of Undergraduate Affairs encourages all of students to sign up for this system today. Below is information about how to register for this unique alert system.

Emergency Messaging is a new feature of the campus system to reach you with important information in the event of an emergency. The campus already has several ways to reach you, including mass e-mail, the campus homepage, a telephone tree, local media, recorded messages at 217-265-UIPD, weather sirens, and loudspeakers in police cars.

Emergency Messaging will provide the campus another method through which to contact you during an emergency. Registering for the service takes just a few minutes.

Here are step-by-step instructions.

- Go to: emergency.illinois.edu (NO <http://www>) -Log-in using Bluestem.
- Choose the text message box.
- Enter your cell phone number with area code and without dashes.
- Click on text message formats, then look at the pull-down menu.
- Choose the appropriate address for your cell phone provider (e.g., 5553335555@txt.att.net).
- Insert that address after your phone number.
- If you have a second cell phone number, enter it (with the appropriate cell provider information) on the alternate text message line.
- If you use a non-university email provider, please also enter that information on the alternate email line.
- Click on save, then exit the system.

In the event of an emergency, you will receive messages at each of the numbers/emails you have provided to campus. When that happens, the message will come from emergency@uiuc.edu and the subject line should be:

EMERGENCY! After reading the message, please share the information in it with those around you.

If you encounter difficulty when registering, please contact the CITES Help Desk at: 217-244-7000 or consult@uiuc.edu.

We are thinking about our students' safety and want you to be the first to know about any campus emergency.
